THE WELLNESS PROBLEM

Every organism needs dietary minerals to ensure healthy living and support the function of vital processes. Our bodies cannot produce these chemical elements, and must therefore acquire them through dietary intake.

With minerals needing to be obtained from a wide range of sources, it may be difficult for those who are on restricted diets, those who consume processed food and those who consume plant based foods grown in mineral depleted soils to get enough dietary minerals to satisfy their daily needs.

As with other essential nutrients, essential minerals also contribute to a host of necessary functions your body must perform. Where deficiencies in dietary intake occur, supplementation may be of benefit.

LIFESTYLE TIPS

- Maintain a healthy diet and lifestyle.
- Eat a variety of antioxidant rich coloured vegetables which include cruciferous vegetables and root vegetables. Eat daily serves of dark green leafy vegetables such as kale, spinach, silverbeet, cabbage, rocket etc. Eat approximately 1 cup of coloured fruits daily including berries and citrus.
- Include a protein rich food with every meal and snack per day.
- Drink 2 litres of pure filtered water per day. Do not drink and eat at the same time. Drink away from food and meals to aid digestion.
